To Whom It May Concern

I recommend the work of Mr. Daksh Pruthi, for his noteworthy contributions in the field of sanitation and public health.

I have been informed that his invention has already been deployed in factories and low-income settlements across Delhi-NCR, where it has significantly improved hygiene practices and reduced sanitation-related illnesses.

In order to scale this impact, Daksh is now working in collaboration with the Municipal Corporation of Delhi also, to undertake mass distribution drives in the slum areas of Delhi. These efforts aim to provide access to hygienic and water-efficient sanitation facilities for families most in need, and directly complement government programmes aimed at improving sanitation infrastructure and public health outcomes.

I thus recommend him the best opportunities for that will enable him to further his academic and professional pursuits.
